PORTFOLIO:

“Never forget how much you enjoy coding.” Those were words expressed to me from a client as I finished cutting his hair after a long talk about my experience in the Coding Bootcamp at the U of M. I have enjoyed the challenges given with each project and each new technology I have learned; I find them engaging and fulfilling, even more so when I have to struggle to get the final result. My ideal work environment is a place where I get to utilize my full stack skills with a team of developers who share my enthusiasm and have the desire to continue to learn.
